Probation Association of New Jersey Recognizes the Impact of Officers and Related Professionals during Pretrial, Probation and Parole Supervision Week Restoring Trust, Creating Hope July 17-23, 2022

The Probation Association of New Jersey (PANJ) recognizes and celebrates the work of Pretrial, Probation and Parole Officers, during the week of July 17th through July 23rd, 2022.

PANJ represents approximately 3,000 Probation Officers, Supervisors, and related Professionals in New Jersey, who oversee the 10th largest probation population in the United States.

Since 1841, the practice of probation and parole has played a vital role in our justice system. Probation Officers, Supervisors and other represented Professional staff are deeply involved in multiple judicial functions, including supervising convicted criminals, ensuring child support orders are followed, providing family and pretrial services to make the citizens of New Jersey safer and providing a better quality of life.

As professionals, you are a critical part of the public safety system who work tirelessly and are rarely recognized for the vital services you provide under difficult environments and strained resources. Officers and Supervisors work day in and day out to improve the lives and futures of victims and offenders, by Restoring Trust and Creating Hope. When trust is lost it can be catastrophic, when restored, trust creates hope.

PANJ would like to thank each and every one of you who make a significant contribution and difference to New Jersey as Probation Officers and Supervisors and Professional Staff. In recognition of all that you do, not only this week, but throughout the year, Thank You! On behalf of the PANJ, we appreciate the difficult job that you do every day.
